

Harrisburg Stars
To Play Eagles Here

Local fans will get a chance to see what sort of team the Harrisburg-St. Louis Stars, new member of the Negro National League is bringing into the circuit when that team faces the Newark Eagles in a three-game series beginning Friday.

The Stars, owned by Allen Johnson, former co-owner of the New York Black Yankees, are under management of Harry Williams and George Mitchell is the business manager.

From reports of western writers the Stars have a sound team for league play.

In two games with the Cleveland Buckeyes they have the edge. At Cleveland on May 2, they battled the Buckeyes to an 11-inning 1-1 tie after five days practice. At Cairo, Illinois, on Thursday, May 6, they nosed out the Buckeyes 8-7, through the circuit clouting of Dan Wilson, Eddie Williams and James Starks.

The present lineup of Stars include such outstanding players as Horne, Wilson, Parker, Harry Williams, Calhoun, McAllister, Armour, T. J. Brown, Carter and Parker, all of whom have played in the annual East-west classic in Chicago.

Combining speed, skill and power the Stars have a great offensive and defensive combination which may have a telling effect on the 1943 pennant race.

Probable lineup: Wilson cf; Armour lf; H. Williams c; Parker rf; Starks lb; Carter 3b; Horne 2b; Brown ss; Boone, Calhoun, McAllister, Walker, Grimes or Parker pitchers; E. Williams, R. Brown, Seagraves and Gray utility.
